TOLD THE TRUTH.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat is the leading republican newspaper of the Mississippi valley. It is known as the great religious daily, and the building in which it is published is known as the "Temple of Truth" to the faithful. That paper is thoroughly informed as to the attitude of the republican party on the silver question. The following editorial, which needs no explanation, is taken from last Friday's Globe-Democrat. Republican bimetalists should read it twice and then vote the democratic ticket:

Ex-Senator Ingalls says he believes the republican party favors free coinage at the 16 to 1 ratio. If he really thinks this he is more out of touch with his party than any body has imagined. Senator Jones is a better authority on the republican party's attitude toward free silver than Ingalls is or ever was, and he left the party because he knew it would not declare for free coinage independently of the action of the other countries. The hope of a free silver declaration by a republican national convention in advance of international action in the same direction is an iridescent dream, and the erratic Kansan will realize this if he lives a few years longer.

REPUBLICANS CLAIM EVERYTHING.

The republican platform adopted at the Socorro convention contains the following astounding bit of misinformation:

The first effort to have New Mexico admitted as a state, came from the republican party of this territory, which has always persistently favored its admission. We have at all times believed that the territory possessed the intelligence and capacity to entitle it to state government, and it is with chagrin and regret that we witnessed in 1889, the democratic opposition to statehood.

Nearly every schoolboy in New Mexico knows that the first effort to have this territory admitted to the union was made years before the republican party existed, but there is just as much foundation for this claim as there is for any of the extravagant claims made in that wonderful platform. The republicans might with equal propriety, have claimed that they built the ark as to have made the claim that they made the first attempt to have the territory admitted. They are claiming everything this year as usual.

It is the duty of every voter in the county to see that he is duly registered for the coming election. Boards of registration will be in session in every precinct in the county for the purpose of registering voters every Saturday this month and also next Monday and Tuesday. All male citizens of the United States who will have resided in the territory six months, in the county three months and in the precinct thirty days next preceeding the 6th of November are entitled to register and vote. The payment of the poll tax is not necessary to entitle an otherwise qualified voter to register. Register Saturday.

The editor of the Liberal rises up from behind the battlements long enough to say that the cruel war is over, but Don is mistaken. It has only just begun although the political battlefield is thickly strewn with republican corpses. These poor fellows were stabbed by their friends and in their own camp, but when the democratic hosts get after the republicans next month the carnage in the republican ranks will be something awful.

The gold bugs are not so hostile toward silver as they were a year ago. Their treatment of the silver question did not bring about the desired result and it is possible that they will not oppose a different course of treatment for the paralysis which has existed in business circles for over a year.

JUDGE BOONE authorizes THE EAGLE to say that he has made no pledges to any one in this campaign nor does he intend doing any thing of the kind. If he goes to the legislature he will go untrammelled and unpledged. He is a man who has ideas of his own and is the right man for the place.

The attitude of eastern politicians toward silver is changing very rapidly. Last week the democrats of New York nominated David B. Hill, a pronounced advocate of the free coinage of silver for governor of the state. Legislation in favor of silver cannot be put off much longer.

REPORT has it that the populists will be relieved of the annoyance of selecting a ticket next Saturday. Sigmund Lindauer, it is believed, has a slate already framed for the occasion which can be adopted without having to consult the wishes of many of the delegates.

THE republicans in this part of the territory are not so proud of their candidate for delegate to congress as they might be. They are not so anxious to bet on the success of the republican candidate for delegate as they were two years ago.

THE populists of the county could pay a handsome tribute to the financial ability of George H. Utter by nominating him for commissioner from this district at the county convention next Saturday. He has done noble work for the party and deserves a reward.

TONY CLARK has been a resident of Deming since the town was started and is known as a thoroughly reliable and upright citizen. He is going to be elected commissioner from the third district and will fill the office with credit.

IT HAS been a long time since Pinos Altos has been represented on the board of county commissioners, but after the first of next January that place will have an able representative on the board in the person of F. J. Davidson.

THE only issue of any importance before the country at the present time is the silver question and the sentiment of the voters throughout the country is overwhelmingly in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of silver.
